Term 4 Week 5 2022

An excellent Assembly

Congratulations to Kaleb, Toby, Hazel, Tyshayla and Kira who all did an outstanding job of running our whole-school assembly this morning!

They stepped up whilst the Year 6 leaders were away on the Canberra excursion.

Year 6 Canberra excursion

It may have been cold and a little wet Tuesday but the students are having a ball. Old Parliament House, AIS and the zoo were visited today and Questacon tonight.

What a wonderful Wednesday the students have had. Started off at the War Memorial and a walk down ANZAC parade. After that it was off to see the dinosaurs at the Dinosaur Museum and then a drive out of town to the Deep Space Centre.

Having a rest after dinner and then off they go to rock climbing. Such a busy day.

'Working with the Big Ideas'

Year 5 have engaged in 'Working with the Big Ideas' Mathematics this week with Miss Murray and Miss Seagrott. The students brainstormed all of the ideas linked to creating a free-standing roller coaster and used known number facts as a mathematical strategy when carrying out the investigation. Mrs Lyell participated in the lessons and added a STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Art and Mathematics) twist to the lesson. Mrs Lyell judged the Mathematical Roller Coaster investigation with some clear designers being identified for future initiatives.

4G Dragons

4G students have had a great time painting their clay dragons. They look incredible!

Paper Roller Coasters

SM, SR and SH students made paper roller coasters today as part of STEM activities for this week.

Book of the week

My Deadly boots
Authors: Carl Merrison & Hakea Hustler

An empowering, uplifting picture book about what it is that makes you who you are, from the award-winning authors of Black Cockatoo.

*Spikes on the bottom boots,
my favourite colour boots,
making me too deadly.*

Can the shoes on your feet really make you jump higher? Walk taller? Dream bigger?

A joyous, empowering story about finding confidence within yourself, boots or no boots, from the award-winning authors of Black Cockatoo.

Talking about Homework

Even though homework has both pros and cons, some might be worth it in the end. If your child is struggling with completing their homework at home, here are some great ways to help:

- Offer your children a comfortable space to do work, one where they feel productive and focused.
- Talk with your child about how they feel when they come home from school
- Encourage them to do their homework in 30-minute intervals so that it doesn't seem like a long time
- Try coming up with creative solutions for the problems you're having and put those strategies into action!
