Book Week 2023

We had a wonderful week celebrating Book Week for 2023. Every class which visited the library engaged with all the shortlisted Book Week texts and participated in a variety of fun activities. Our "Staff Guess Who?" proved to be very popular, with students attempting to guess staff from their childhood photographs. Each stage group participated in an interactive "live" excursion during the week, including a presentation from authors Matt Cosgrove and Andy Geppert. Over 50 students from Stage 3 volunteered to participate in a virtual creative writing workshop around the theme of spooky stories. During this workshop students were inspired by the State Library's imposing facade and ornate interior to compose some atmospheric and spooky descriptive writing. ### Screen free sleep

Did you know that the amount of time your child spends in front of screens can affect how quickly they fall asleep and the duration of their sleep?

It's crucial for your child to have sufficient, high-quality sleep to support their learning, play, and concentration, especially at school.

To minimize the impact of screen time on sleep:

- Avoid using digital screens within an hour before bedtime.
- Encourage your child to engage in activities like reading, drawing, or quiet play.
- Encourage your child to replace screentime with outdoor physical activity or play.
